

DHC Attends Star-Studded Derby City Wellness Fair

On April 30, Doctors for Healthy Communities attended the Derby City Wellness Fair, a special event hosted by former UofL quarterbacks Lamar Jackson and Teddy Bridgewater, to promote better health among Louisville residents. More than 1,500 people attended included DHC President Dr. Muhammad Babar, DHC volunteers Adam and Harris (pictured with Lamar Jackson) and DHC Executive Director Debbie Harper.

DHC had a table set up at the event to provide education, handouts and offered blood pressure screenings. We're very grateful for the opportunity and excited to be part of such a great opportunity.

Later in the month, we delivered supplies for the nurse's closet at Newcomer Academy including toothache medication and gum. Thanks to our partners at Newcomer for allowing DHC to support your mission.

Thanks to Our Silent Auction Supporters

Thank you to everyone who supported DHC during our 2nd Annual Silent Auction. Our supporters raised approximately $4,500 for Doctors for Healthy Communities to continue its mission. Those funds will go right back to supporting families and communities in Kentucky and abroad. We appreciate your help and your continued confidence in our hard work.
